PART A - INTRODUCTION

1. Background to the organisation

London Management Centre (LMC/the Provider) was founded in 1995 and teaching began in 1996. LMC is a privately owned limited company. The senior leaders of LMC consist of a Chief Executive Officer and three Directors. They are supported by an Operations Manager and a Learning and Development Manager.

The aim of the Provider is to empower managers and developing leaders to achieve organisational success.

The Provider’s main venue is in London but it offers a combination of open courses, at training venues around the world. Bespoke courses are also offered and delivered within companies. BAC only accredits the provision offered in the United Kingdom.

The training centre is located near Marylebone station in West London.

2. Brief description of the current provision

LMC provides short courses in management, leadership, finance, human resources, projects and logistics, sales and marketing and public relations. Interpersonal skills are also offered to middle and senior managers and senior technicians. The curriculum has been developed in-house to meet the training needs of managers and senior executives.

Certain courses are endorsed by awarding bodies such as the Institute of Leadership and Management and the Chartered Management Institute. They are designed to be practical and interactive.

The short courses are five days in length and finish with a graduation, at which certificates are handed out.

During the inspection, 18 delegates were attending two classes. All were aged over 18, two thirds were male and almost all were from the oil and gas industry in Kuwait. The classes taught during the inspection were part of the People and Performance Management training courses.

3. Inspection process

The inspection was carried out by one inspector over two days. The inspection included meetings with delegates from each of the courses, the trainers, support staff and managers. The inspector also had a tour of the training venue and offices, observed teaching and learning and scrutinised documentation. All the staff cooperated very well with the inspection and the information required was clearly presented.

The application process is used to assess that delegates have the level of English required for the course.

The Provider does not make and retain electronic copies of delegates' passports and visas, if they have short term study visas.

Comments

Delegates are expected to attend all sessions and the internal certificate, issued at the end of the course, is dependent on 100 per cent attendance. All delegates are issued with electronic passes, that are used to swipe in and out of the centre. This provides the administrators with a very accurate record of delegates' attendance.

Comments

LMC has a thorough approach to obtaining and analysing delegate feedback. Feedback is gathered at the end of each day and at the end of the course. It provides accurate feedback on delegates’ views on the quality of tuition, the venue and course organisation. The results are entered into a spreadsheet and analysed by managers.

8. The provider has effective systems to review its own standards and assess its own performance with a view to continuing improvement
